

Cites emerging or established peer-reviewed evidence and/or is from a reputable source or organisation with values that align with a social model of disability and inclusion

Aligns with best practice in early childhood development

Uses plain language and avoids medical jargon

Is respectful of social and cultural diversity

Does not include advertising for drug companies or formula companies